

HAAS STORYBOARD

Launching Others

In May, our local church sent two teams to Africa. Holly is encouraging, training, and in some cases, mentoring young adults answering the call to short and long-term service.

A group of 11 traveled to the southwest African country of Namibia May 16 to serve alongside long-term Antioch staff.

The next day, Antioch Raleigh's five interns left for a couple months to the island of Mauritius through July.

Another family (we can't show) who used to serve overseas is preparing to return to Asia once they raise support.

Feeling Hip

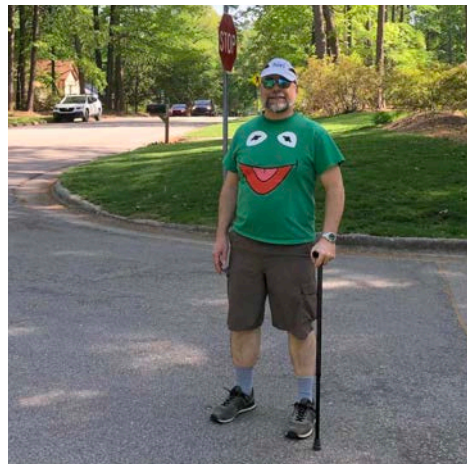

Ready to go roll into surgery

Neither of us are traveling for now with a calendar full of physical therapy and my left hip replacement scheduled for July 19.

We simply can't thank you enough for your prayers. The recovery from my April 5 right hip surgery was totally free of complications. I've been able to walk and rebuild muscle strength by following all of the exercises prescribed by physical therapists. We've already noticed an increase in my range of motion. It's amazing this was all done out-patient!

Lots of pills were prescribed, but after two weeks I didn't even need half of a pain pill. Holly was an angel, giving washcloth baths the first week, changing bandages and dealing with groaning.

Thailand Project Update

These storyboard fragments are from the volume of art produced by Tod, Hannah, Kayla and Mary (see below) in the last four months. There are many exciting developments to share and we have a new web page called Building the Buddhist Series to show off all the latest progress. Visit twrmotion.org/bbs.

We appreciate your prayers over this 24-month process. Crafting visual stories like Revelation can be challenging. We trust God to give all the Spirit's inspiration and creativity to communicate the good news to Buddhists across Southeast Asia and beyond.

Thank you for standing with us to share the good news.
